

Alan Wheatley

Writer and Editor on Economics and Finance

Alan Wheatley is an economics writer and editor based in London. He was global economics correspondent for Reuters until November 2013. In the course of a 33-year career, he reported from more than 40 countries and had postings in London, Frankfurt, Paris, New York, Washington, Tokyo, Singapore, and Beijing. He attended innumerable IMF, G7, and EU summits and reported on landmark economic events including the Latin American debt crisis of the 1980s; the collapse of Continental Illinois bank; the 1985 Plaza Accord; the 1987 Wall Street crash; negotiations to create the euro; Japan's struggle to defeat deflation; the meteoric rise of China; and the euro zone crisis.

Alan is the editor and co-author of the book The Power of Currencies, which explores the consequences of looming challenges to the dollar as the world's pre-eminent reserve currency.
