

Natali Morris

Broadcaster, Writer, Speaker, Anchor of MSNBC's Code Forward, & CNBC Contributor

Natali Morris is an online media personality, broadcaster, host, speaker, writer, and educator. She is also the anchor of Code Forward, one of MSNBC's online-only shows, covering hot-button issues in technology, from GamerGate to Girls Who Code, and a CNBC contributor. A personal finance enthusiast and autodidact, Natali's specialties include business, technology, and personal finance. Her goal is to inspire audiences to always be in control of their wealth building goals. Natali discusses ways to expand our own financial literacy and empower audiences to think beyond the paycheck, she shares her personal story of success, helps her audience seek financial freedom, and empowers women to learn how to make the big decisions on investing and wealth building, not just manage online bill paying.

Prior to NBC, Natali was an anchor and contributor for CBS Interactive and CBS News. She's also contributed to CNN, ABC News, G4TV, BBC, The CW, Fox News, Fox Business News, and Univision.

With a bachelor's degree in journalism from California State University, Hayward, and a master's degree in sociology from the University of Southern California, Natali written for Consumer Reports, WIRED magazine, Variety Magazine, MarketWatch, TechCrunch, The San Francisco Examiner, PC Magazine, ELLEgirl, The Oakland Tribune, and more.

Natali is available for lectures, to emcee conferences, moderate panels, and host other corporate events and meetings.

Leading Authorities, Inc. | 1-800-SPEAKER | www.leadingauthorities.com