

Scott Jennings

CNN Contributor, Conservative Columnist, & Former Presidential Advisor

Scott Jennings is a prominent conservative political commentator on CNN, known for his sharp insights and thought-provoking analysis. Dubbed “The Black Sheep of CNN” by the Daily Mail and “Lonely Scott” by Bill Maher for his engaging nightly debates, Jennings has become a fixture of CNN’s election and major event coverage. As the network’s senior conservative commentator, Scott brings a unique perspective, blending humor and candor grounded in his rural American roots, to deliver compelling arguments and lively discussions on the news of the day.

Scott uses his extensive experience navigating high-stakes political campaigns, advising top leaders, and crafting impactful messaging to shed light on leadership and the evolving landscape of American governance. With a unique position as both a political insider and a media personality, Scott is a sought-after voice on national and international platforms. He is exclusively represented by Leading Authorities speakers bureau.

When Scott Jennings speaks, audiences leave equipped with more than just knowledge—they gain a renewed understanding of political and organizational dynamics. Scott makes complex political strategies relatable and applicable to real-world scenarios. Whether addressing corporate leaders or civic organizations, he empowers listeners to think critically, communicate effectively, and lead confidently in their spheres of influence.

Scott’s career spans decades at the intersection of politics and media. A trusted advisor on four presidential campaigns, he served as Special Assistant to President George W. Bush and played pivotal roles in high-profile Senate and congressional races. His expertise in political strategy has made him a respected analyst on CNN and a prolific writer featured in publications like the LA Times and Gannett. Beyond the campaign trail, Scott has taught at Harvard’s Kennedy School, shaping the next generation of public servants. He is also a founding partner of RunSwitch Public Relations, Kentucky’s largest PR and public affairs firm.