

Jürgen Klinsmann

German World Cup Winner (1990) / Football Manager

Ju?rgen Klinsmann is a titan of football, both as a player and manager. Ju?rgen's successful playing career saw him lead the line for some of the most prominent teams in Europe, including: Bayern Munich, Tottenham and Inter Milan. A constant attacking threat, Ju?rgen racked up an impressive 108 international appearances for West Germany, scoring 47 goals.

Ju?rgen boasts the impressive record of scoring in all six of the Major International tournaments that he participated in, from Euro 1988 to the 1998 World Cup. In 2004, Ju?rgen was subsequently named in the FIFA 100 list of the '125 Greatest Living Footballers' and in 2016 he became the fifth player to be named as honorary captain of Germany.

In 2004 Ju?rgen transitioned into management, leading the German national team through to 2006. He then went onto to manage Bayern Munich ahead of taking on the role with the USA team 2011 – 2016.

Given his wealth of experience across various leagues and at international level and a sharp footballing brain, Ju?rgen is a popular and insightful broadcaster working with ESPN and the BBC.

In 1995, Ju?rgen and some of his close friends founded the children charity foundation Agapedia, which stems from the Greek language and translates to "Love for Children."
