

Lolo Jones

3-Time Olympian in the 60M and 100M hurdles, Three-time NCAA Champion garnering 11 All-American Honors while at LSU

Lolo Jones is a 3x Summer and Winter Olympian who competes in both Track & Field and Bobsled. Born in Des Moines, Iowa, Lolo attended Louisiana State University where she competed on a Track and Field scholarship earning gold medals at NCAA Championships on three occasions. When Lolo turned pro, she specialized in the 60m and 100m hurdle races. Jones was heavily favored to win gold at the 2008 Beijing Olympics, where she stumbled on the final hurdle and yet she still managed to complete the race at 7th place. She returned in 2009 and won the national indoor 60m hurdle race and she was the winner in the 60m hurdle race in the 2010 World Indoor Championships. In the 2012 summer Olympics held in London, Lolo finished fourth in the 100m hurdle race. Lolo then transitioned to Bobsled, competing in the 2014 games where she finished in 11th place. Lolo went on to win gold at the World Championships for Bobsled in 2021. Outside of sports, Lolo has become a media personality, competing on Dancing With The Stars, Celebrity Big Brother, The Challenge, and more. She also launched her own podcast last year, titled Gold Medal Loser, where she discusses overcoming obstacles on the way to success. Additionally, Lolo is the author of "Over It", which covers her journey throughout the course of her career.

Lolo Jones Accolades:

- 3x Olympian - 1 of 15 Americans to compete in both Summer & Winter Olympics
- 2x World Champion (60m hurdles)
- 2x World Champion (Bobsled)
- Podcast Host, Author, & TV Star