

Mark Preston

Executive Director of Political Programming & Senior Political Analyst for CNN

Current Political Outlook & The Latest Trends Affecting Elections. Mark Preston offers an insider's perspective into the latest in politics. With some of the strongest relationships in the political journalism world, he offers a well-rounded picture of the current environment as he looks at the most likely election outcomes, hot political topics in the news, how voters are reacting to candidates and issues, and why political decisions are made (including why campaigns bring up certain issues when they do). Preston is bright and upbeat, and his presentations are full of funny, insider stories. Colloquial and with great humor, he also enjoys interacting with the audience, encouraging Q&A.

---