

Ana Navarro

Political Strategist, Political Contributor to CNN and Telemundo, and Co-Host of ABC's The View

Political Outlook. Ana Navarro deftly analyzes the current political landscape with her signature no-holds-barred candor and larger-than-life personality. Part political commentary, part prognostication, she shares hilarious and enlightening insider stories about the movers and shakers driving the nation's political conversations and the issues that will most affect the coming election cycle. A known friend and adviser to Marco Rubio and Jeb Bush, she offers a unique take on the current political climate paired with anecdotes and first-hand experiences.

Politics & The Hispanic Vote. When talking about voter demographics, most analysts describe the Hispanic vote as a giant monolith that will put its full weight singularly into politics in the coming years. While it is true that the Hispanic population is growing rapidly in numbers and political power, there are many nuances, intricacies, and regional differences amongst the voters. Navarro analyzes the current political environment from the perspective of the Hispanic voter, highlighting what organizations need to understand about this demographic's interests. With her signature no-holds-barred candor and larger-than-life personality, she shares hilarious stories about the inner working of politics and the issues that will drive Hispanic voters to (or from) the voting booths.

Hispanic and Latin American Issues. Ana Navarro has dedicated most of her life to working on issues important to the Hispanic community, including immigration, foreign policy, education, healthcare, and the economy. Tailored to her audience's chosen topic, she shares entertaining stories as she outlines the issues and explains what audiences need to know.

Women In Politics. Ana Navarro shares insights and stories about being a female immigrant and the challenges she has faced in her political career. She explores the top political issues of the day spun through the female voter's perspective and shares how organizations and politicians can appeal to this increasingly important voter block more effectively.
