

Kevin Mandia

President of FireEye and Cyber Security Expert

Staying Ahead in the World of Cyber Security. The man behind the widely publicized—and startling—2013 report on the Chinese military making cyber incursions into top US companies and government entities, there are few leaders of Kevin Mandia's experience that can help organizations understand the complexities behind threats that lurk in our vitally important online world. In this thoughtful presentation, Mandia discussed the latest cyber security issues dominating today's headlines and what businesses can do to proactively protect themselves from these threats.
