

Matt K. Lewis & Jonathan Capehart

Revered Political Journalist Duo

Jonathan Capehart and Matt Lewis are not afraid to tell it like it is on television, in news publications, on their podcasts, as well as in their presentations on stage. Offering perspectives from all sides of the aisle on today's hot-button issues, these two candid journalists make up a power duo that thoughtfully debate the issues shaping the current political landscape – delivering a lens into both parties' perspectives while keeping the country's best interests at the forefront of the conversation. Sharing insights gained from their careers in political journalism, Capehart and Lewis speak expertly on the topics facing politics and culture today and share how this will impact the issues of tomorrow – leaving audiences entertained and with a greater understanding (and perhaps a new perspective) on the daily news.

Leading Authorities, Inc. | 1-800-SPEAKER | www.leadingauthorities.com