

Matthew Griffin

Co-Founder and CEO, Combat Flip Flops

The Power of Persistence, Creativity, and Respect.

Matthew Griffin has moved from student to Army Ranger to military veteran to director of sales and special operations to co-founder and CEO of a global organization providing jobs, education, and safer communities for vulnerable populations. The journey has been eye-opening and full of challenges and successes. Throughout it all, Griffin's biggest takeaway has been the importance of persistence, creativity, and respect—or, in other words, never underestimating the abilities of yourself or those around you. Here, Griffin shares his incredible life-story and lights up the stage with his passion and drive for change. Audiences leave feeling determined to chart their own course, focus their goals, and tackle big challenges.
