

Jeff Civillico

Las Vegas Headline Entertainer, Host Personality, Philanthropist

Work That Matters

Jeff enables a renewed sense of passion, purpose, and gratitude in attendees' work and lives by challenging the audience to view where they are personally and professionally as a new type of starting point. Attendees walk away more engaged with what they do, and why they do it. Jeff is the quintessential funny keynote speaker for companies who look beyond numbers to the importance of caring for "the whole person."

Power of the Pivot

Jeff's journey from juggling in his kitchen as a child to headlining in Vegas with own TV show is naturally inspiring, and his passion is naturally contagious. His story of fighting through the cutthroat politics of the entertainment industry is eye-opening, funny, and powerful. Jeff shared how through a series of strategic "pivots" along his career path, he has continuously leveraged what he has had to flip hardships into assets. Attendees walk away with actionable insights on how and when to apply pivots of attitude, energy, and mindset to their work and personal lives.
