

Dan Clark

Best-Selling Author & Expert on Leadership and Business Development

Dan Clark is CEO of a multi-million dollar corporation, an internationally recognized speaker, entertainer, songwriter/ recording artist and New York Times Best Selling author. Since 1982, Clark has spoken to more than 3 million people in over 4,000 audiences, in all 50 states, and in 30 foreign countries. Clark was named one of the top ten speakers in the world by Achievers North America and Achievers Europe. In his experience, Clark has found that most people attend meetings and read books in search of new answers, but fail to seek out the right ones. Too many suffer from the paralysis of analysis and over-thinking - and eventually complicating - the simple. He helps audiences focus on fundamentals such as integrity, service before self, pursuing excellence, and earning and keeping trust.

Leadership that's just what the doctor ordered. Clark is the primary contributing author to the Chicken Soup for the Soul series and author of 20 of his own best selling books, including Puppies for Sale which was made into a film at Paramount Studios starring the late Jack Lemmon. His latest book, Forgotten Fundamentals, approaches the "think outside the box" mentality and poses the question, What if the answers are still in the box? Clark has been published in more than 30 million books in 30 languages worldwide.

Let experience be the guide. Clark suffered a paralyzing injury that cut short his football career. Sixteen doctors told him he would not recover, but recover he did. Since then, Clark has flown in fighter jets twice the speed of sound, raced automobiles in Germany and was honored to carry the Olympic Torch in the 2002 Winter Games. He has been the general session speaker at the United Nations World Congress, conducted UN leadership training in Europe, Asia and Russia, and was the keynote speaker at the U.S. Air Force Four Star Generals conference.

Clark has spoken to our combat troops all over the world, is a Leadership and Character Development Consultant for the US Armed Forces, has worked with Fortune 500 companies, NASA and Super Bowl champions. His inspirational story has been featured on more than 500 TV and radio shows, in Entrepreneur Magazine, and as the feature article in Mayo Clinic Magazine. Most recently, he was given the incredible opportunity to fly an Air Force jet into space. From his outer space journey, Clark gained invaluable perspective and is eager to share his expertise with audiences of all kinds. Clark is one of the most in demand speakers in America and recognized expert on managing change, building winning teams, and taking life to the next level.

Clark's fundamental message is to encourage his audiences to find purpose and meaning in their lives. His guidance comes from a lifetime of experience and wisdom, and his message is clear, resonant, and good for what ails.
