

Kyran Bracken

England Rugby player, Dancing on Ice Winner and Business speaker

Former England captain Kyran, won 51 caps for England and appeared at three Rugby World Cups in a ten-year career that spanned the end of the amateur era and the dawn of professionalism.

A scrum half, he made his England debut against the All Blacks in '93 representing the red Rose with distinction before making his final international appearance in '03 at the World Cup against France. He also toured with the British & Irish Lions to South Africa in '97.

Qualified in law from Bristol University, when the game went professional he transferred from Bristol RFC to Saracens in 1996. A highly respected and popular player for both club and country.

On retiring from the game, Kyran remains a regular face/voice in the media winning ITV's Dancing on Ice as well as often a studio guest and co-commentator on matches. He has a property portfolio and runs a timberframe property business.
