

Anna Palmer

Founder & CEO of Punchbowl News, Former Co-Author of POLITICO Playbook

Politics with a Punch: Insider Insights on Today's Top News. A co-founder of Punchbowl News and the former co-author of POLITICO Playbook, Anna Palmer's work has been described as "the be all and end all of politics and what's happening in D.C." by Trevor Noah and "the daily missalette of Washington" by Stephen Colbert. Considered among the most authoritative voices on the political news of the day, Palmer, shares an up-to-the-minute breakdown of what's happening on Capitol Hill and what's on the horizon for Congress and the White House as the nations leaders and decision-makers work to address today's most-pressing issues in politics and policy. With unparalleled access to the highest offices in D.C., Palmer is an expert on the issues, players and personalities driving politics today, and how they will impact what matters most to your audience.

Women Rule. Anna Palmer is the former editorial director of Women Rule, a POLITICO platform dedicated to expanding leadership opportunities for women, and former host of the critically acclaimed "Women Rule" podcast, where she shared the personal stories of successful women across the country, interviewing luminaries from Washington to Hollywood, business leaders to celebrities. She also led the "Women Rule" partnerships with Google and the Tory Burch Foundation to create opportunities and events for women to further their careers, network, and skills at all levels of their career. In this talk, Anna will speak about creating "Women Rule," the importance of empowering the voices of women in all facets of life, and her experiences covering Capitol Hill at a time where women leaders, women's issues, and women's voices are more important than ever.