Eva Omaghomi

Former Royal household senior official and strategic communications leader

Leadership at the Heart of the Royal Household Discover the leadership lessons Eva gained during 17 years serving in the Royal Household, including her role in delivering some of the most significant events in modern Royal history.

The Power of Strategic Communication Explore how clear, authentic communication builds trust, protects reputation, and influences audiences during moments of global significance.

Leading with Purpose & Cultural Intelligence Learn how inclusive leadership, cultural awareness, and meaningful community engagement can strengthen organisations and inspire lasting impact.

Navigating Influence on the Global Stage Drawing on her experience advising world-renowned organisations and public figures, Eva shares insights into leading with confidence, building credibility, and driving meaningful change in an increasingly connected world.