Rebecca Minkoff

Renowned Fashion Mogul and Fearless Entrepreneur

Fearless by Design: Leading with Instinct, Risk, and Resilience In this empowering and deeply personal talk, designer and entrepreneur Rebecca Minkoff unpacks the truth about fear—and how embracing it has been central to her decades-long career of innovation, growth, and authentic leadership. From launching bold fashion experiments to navigating motherhood and near-business collapse, Minkoff shares how fear is not a stop sign but a signal of opportunity. Drawing from her own experiences and insights from her book Fearless, she reveals how taking risks, owning your vision, and communicating with conviction are critical tools for women forging their own paths. Attendees will leave with a redefined relationship to fear, practical leadership principles, and the courage to chase what matters most—on their own terms. Rebecca's message is inspiring for anyone ready to leap, fail forward, and lead fearlessly.
