

Robert Costa

Chief Washington Analyst for CBS News, National Correspondent for CBS Sunday Morning

Inside the 2026 Campaign. As an award-winning correspondent and Chief Washington Analyst for CBS News, Robert Costa covers the 2026 campaign like no one else, bringing his deep sourcing in both parties, his vast knowledge of history, and his keen understanding of power into his pieces for “Sunday Morning” and into his presentations to audiences nationwide. With vivid stories from inside this crucial midterm campaign and easy-to-understand analysis, Costa brings people up to speed and inside the room ahead of both 2026 and 2028.

Inside the new Washington: An insider's guide to 2027 and 2028. As leaders look past the midterm elections, Emmy Award-winning correspondent and # 1 best-selling author Robert Costa provides an insider’s guidebook to understanding the new Washington on the horizon. Through lively stories and nonpartisan insights on the tensions between the White House and Congress, he reveals the true power centers driving decisions. He also provides an unparalleled preview of the 2028 presidential election, informed by years of interviewing the key players and contenders in both parties.

The Race For The White House: 2028. Robert Costa is one of the key journalists tracking the race for the White House each year, with deep insights into both the Democratic Party and Republican Party’s political operations. With candor and his “no fuss” style, Costa takes you inside the battle for the future of the Democratic Party, with populists and Democratic socialists pitted against the establishment. Costa, who traveled the country during the 2012, 2016, 2020, and 2024 presidential campaigns, offers fresh and in-depth perspectives on the candidates and the issues that will shape what could be the most consequential presidential race in decades.

Washington at 250: Inside our American crossroads. As the United States marks its 250th anniversary, award-winning CBS News correspondent Robert Costa takes audiences inside our own historic times with an illuminating presentation that helps us understand the deeply American backstory of how we got here, from the rise of populism and conservatism to the rise of progressive politics. It is a speech that bridges together the urgency of now with the context of the past, Costa provides an upbeat, in-depth analysis on the leadership lessons from American history that still guide us.