

Chip Eichelberger

Peak Performance, Motivation, and Wellness Strategist

Formerly Tony Robbins International point man, Chip has "Switched On" over 1,000 high-energy experiences for such notable organizations like Apple, Lennar Homes, Ameriprise, L'Oréal, Hyatt, DOW, GM, Mass Mutual, PriceWaterhouseCoopers, Rogers Media, Bank of Montreal, RE/MAX, Smoothie King, Freddie Mac, The Equitable, Campbell's Soup, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Great Clips, and Lenovo. A proven pro, he has been making meeting planners look like a genius for over 27 years. Chip will be THE energy source for your event and bring a positive energy that will resonate with your audience.

Chip believes audiences are craving engagement, not another speech. This immersive experience sharpened his skills and created a unique style. It is high-energy, humorous, and persuasive and gets results. Chip promises to be THE energy source at your event. He will do his homework on your organization and industry, conduct phone interviews, and customize his message to help ensure his message sticks! He will work hard to make you look like a genius as the decision maker who hired him.

Chip is one of only 7% of the members of the National Speakers Association to earn the prestigious Certified Speaking Professional designation. He has created numerous audio, video and printed products. His newest book is The Smart Guide To Accomplishing Your Goals.

He specializes in high-energy, interactive and customized opening and closing presentations. Chip is consistently told by the organizations that hire him that most speakers were a "rental" and that he was a true partner in making their event a success! Customization is essential, he will do the homework and virtual interviews necessary to create audience buy-in Chip will set the tone for the day at your opening session. The energy, spirit of interaction and engagement will energize the vitality of the entire day. After lunch is a crucial spot to energize and engage the audience for the rest of the day or before your awards ceremony.

He is famous for "BOOKENDING" events by opening the day with a customized experience, tied into your theme and business model and then closing the day in the last 40 minutes with the Breaking Barriers – Board Break Experience.

Chip is passionate about delivering a "sticky and interactive" experience that grabs the attention of the audience immediately and engages them to not just talk about change but to be committed to it. He is a married and the proud father of three. He lives in Knoxville, TN. He is an avid golfer, traveler, reader, dancer and difference maker in the community.
