

Robert Genetski

Economist, Forecaster Investment Advisor

Genetski is one the nation's leading economists. He is a teacher, columnist, and author of five books on classical economic principles. His book, Rich Nation, Poor Nation: Why Some Nations Prosper While Others Fail, provides over a century of evidence highlighting the success and failure of economic policies in the US and in countries around the world.

Genetski is a popular speaker known for using humor and anecdotes to simplify complex economic issues. For five consecutive years, speaking.com named him one of the top-five speakers in the field of economics and finance.

Genetski has written regular financial columns for The Epoch Times. His articles and research have also appeared in numerous publications including Fortune Magazine, the Wall Street Journal and Investors' Business Daily. He has appeared on CNN and Fox News and on nationally syndicated radio and TV programs.

Genetski received his doctorate in Economics from NYU and has taught economics at various institutions of higher learning including the University of Chicago's Graduate School of Business and New York University. He has held various positions in the financial industry, Senior VP for a major Midwest bank, money manager, investment advisor and director of investment research, and has served as a Director on the Boards of various public and private companies.
