

Zak Dychtwald

China Expert, Millennial Explorer, & Cultural Futurist

Zak Dychtwald is a sought out strategic advisor and frequent global keynote speaker, with expertise in global cooperation, the emerging East and West youth mindset, and the interactions of rising China and the world. He is the Founder and CEO of Young China Group, a think tank and consultancy which works to deepen understanding of the effects of the evolving identity of China's young generation on the marketplace, workplace, and international politics.

Zak is also the author of the critically acclaimed Young China: How the Restless Generation Will Change Their Country and the World, which explores how the country's young generation, born after 1990, feels about everything, from money and sex, to their government.

A frequent contributor to Harvard Business Review and sought after expert, Zak has been invited to speak on six continents including Harvard University, The Wall Street Journal's CEO Council Summit, Google's Next Billion Users Initiative and the Aspen Ideas Festival, among others. He has been named an Asia 21 Next Generation Fellow and recently elected Chair of the American Chamber of Commerce Shanghai Future Leaders Committee.
