Chris Cillizza

Popular Political Analyst, Former CNN Politics Reporter and Editor-at-Large

Exploring the White House and Campaign Politics Having analyzed politics through every form of mass media, Chris Cillizza's speeches are unsurpassed in their quality and relevance to today's political climate. Cillizza, who originally intended to bring his talents to sports journalism, expertly captures the high-stakes drama and the quirky inner-workings of politics. He thoroughly explores the White House and the current administration and brings audiences to surprising conclusions about the future trajectory of national politics. Audiences will revel in his witty and illuminating analysis (he is hilarious) and find his ideas on the country's political environment to be both purposeful and memorable.

A Customizable Trivia Experience with Chris Cillizza. One of America's most recognized political voices brings his signature energy, wit, and sharp commentary to your event in a format that gets every person in the room engaged. Chris has hosted this interactive trivia experience at the Republican and Democratic national conventions, major business events, and private donor gatherings. Fully customized to fit your audience and goals, the program spans politics, pop culture, history, and industry-specific topics — and works equally well as an icebreaker, team-building activity, or standalone event. It's a high-energy, memorable experience that gives corporations, nonprofits, and associations a truly unique way to engage their most important audiences.