Geoff Bennett

Co-Anchor & Co-Managing Editor of PBS NewsHour; Peabody Award-Winning Journalist & Bestselling Author

Political News and Views from Washington. A veteran White House and congressional correspondent, anchor, and analyst for some of the country's leading media outlets, Geoff Bennett is a trusted voice reporting on what's happening in Washington, D.C. and what it means for the American people. Possessing a natural ability to cut through the noise and offer a detailed, smart, non-partisan analysis on the latest in Washington, in this talk, Bennett investigates the political issues that are the source of heated debates between lawmakers and the leading stories on news programs nationwide. He brings his expert insights from the television screen to his presentations as he shares the "what" and "why" of U.S. politics, as well as how individuals and organizations might be affected.

Current Events and Their Influence on the Future. From politics to social justice and everything in between, PBS NewsHour co-anchor Geoff Bennett provides his expert analysis on hot topics making waves in our nation and across the globe. A familiar face seen on national news programs, Bennett leads an impartial discussion on what's going on in the world today, while offering his unique perspective on how current events will play out and their potential to reshape our society.

Beyond Demographics: How to Truly Connect With New Audiences. In an era overflowing with data but starved for genuine connection, Geoff Bennett offers a refreshing and deeply practical perspective on what it means to truly reach people. Drawing from his years of reporting on culture, politics, and national trends, Bennett reveals why demographic categories alone can't explain how audiences think, feel, or engage — and why the leaders who succeed are the ones who understand the power of curiosity and cultural fluency. In this dynamic talk, Bennett shows organizations how to communicate with relevance in a rapidly diversifying America.

The Power of Listening: What Great Leaders and Great Interviewers Have in Common. As one of the nation's most respected interviewers, Geoff Bennett understands that great leadership begins with great listening. In this compelling presentation, Bennett pulls back the curtain on the principles that guide his most impactful on-air conversations — and shows how the same skills can transform communication, strengthen leadership, and elevate organizational culture. With trademark clarity and warmth, he illustrates how active listening uncovers truth, builds credibility, and helps leaders navigate complexity with clarity and purpose.

The Joy of Curiosity. In this inspiring, energizing talk, Geoff Bennett shows why curiosity — rather than certainty — is the real engine of innovation, leadership, and personal growth. Drawing on memorable stories, Bennett explores how curiosity fuels creativity, expands imagination, and helps teams and organizations adapt in a world that's constantly changing. What emerges is a renewed clarity of purpose and a pathway to approach work with more openness, imagination, and possibility.

Moderated By Geoff Bennett. In addition to being a seasoned news correspondent, anchor, and journalist, Geoff Bennett is a talented host, interviewer, and moderator. He is an expert at drawing key insights and answers from panel participants, skillfully incorporating all participants into the discussion, and covering in-depth the topics most important to your audience.