Managing Editor, Punchbowl News

People, Power, and Politics with a Punch As the managing editor for Punchbowl News and a former congressional reporter for POLITICO and Bloomberg, Heather Caygle is wired into the most important conversations surrounding our nations politics and policy — from the halls of Congress to inside the White House. Leading a compelling conversation, she takes audiences beyond the headlines and to the heart of the key issues that are shaping our nation’s political landscape. As she dissects the news of the day and gets to the bottom of everything going on in Washington, D.C, she provides audiences with a more complete understanding of the key trends and the forces at play in politics, and how various scenarios could impact business and society.
