Remember Who You Are “Remember who you are” is more than just a phrase—it’s a guiding principle that emphasizes integrity as the cornerstone of every aspect of life. In this talk, Jim shares personal anecdotes that reveal the profound impact of living by one’s values. He discusses the importance of keeping promises, consistently aligning actions with words, and acting honorably even when no one is watching. These experiences underscore that the true measure of character lies in how you behave when you’re unobserved. Jim’s journey was profoundly influenced by a simple yet powerful reminder he heard daily from his mentor and grandfather: “remember who you are.” This constant refrain served as a moral compass, encouraging him to uphold his integrity regardless of external pressures. By sharing these intimate stories, Jim illustrates how staying true to yourself can shape your destiny and inspire others to do the same. His life stands as a testament to the idea that embracing your true self—especially when it’s most challenging—can lead to genuine success and lasting fulfillment.

Finding a Mentor and Becoming a Leader In “Finding a Mentor and Becoming a Leader,” Jim focuses on being the mentor of high integrity and character for others that you would want for yourself. By helping others achieve their dreams and surrounding yourself with inspirational people, you create the best chance for success for everyone. Jim tells his own story of defeat while believing the wrong kind of people, and shares about his successes while surrounded by key people who helped him believe in himself and pushed him to be the man he is today. “Finding a Mentor and Becoming a Leader” will bring your audience along for an entertaining ride of self-reflection and inspiration to be your best and help others along the way.
