

Lisa Monaco

Former Deputy Attorney General, Former White House Homeland Security Advisor, and Former Deputy National Security Advisor

The Ultimate Double-Edged Sword: Harnessing Opportunity and Managing the Risk of Artificial Intelligence

Artificial intelligence has the potential to be an indispensable tool. Organizations of all types are looking for ways to harness this transformational technology and manage its risks. Lisa Monaco provides critical insights from atop the nation's only combined law enforcement and national security agency where she led the strategy for both governance and enforcement. She provides audiences a framework to use this tool to advance mission while managing its potential for misuse.

Disrupting Tomorrow's Threats Today At a time when corporations are on the front lines of today's complex geopolitical environment, Lisa Monaco reveals the biggest challenges facing companies today and offers strategies to guard against them while remaining competitive. From sanctions enforcement and export controls a fast-growing area of corporate risk to cyber threats and disruptive technologies that require companies to play offense as well as defense, Lisa Monaco draws on decades of law enforcement and national security experience to bring audiences future-focused strategies to manage and lead through risk.

From the Courtroom to the Situation Room to the Board Room Drawing on roles at the highest levels of the Justice Department, FBI and inside the White House, Lisa Monaco shares key strategies for building and leading teams and managing crises to enable organizations to not only weather but thrive amid today's uncertainties.