

Lord Kim Darroch

Retired UK Civil Servant and Life Peer in the House of Lords

The New Geopolitical Landscape - Navigating Global Risk in an Era of Uncertainty Drawing on decades at the centre of international diplomacy and security, Lord Darroch examines the shifting balance of global power, rising geopolitical tensions, and the implications for governments, businesses, and global markets. Audiences gain valuable insight into the forces shaping the modern world order.

Leadership Through Crisis - Decision-Making at the Highest Levels of Government From international conflicts to diplomatic negotiations, Lord Darroch shares first-hand experiences advising prime ministers and managing high-pressure global events. This keynote explores how leaders can remain calm, strategic, and effective during periods of uncertainty and rapid change.

The Future of the Transatlantic Alliance - US–UK Relations, Europe, and the Global Economy As former British Ambassador to the United States, Lord Darroch offers a unique insider perspective on the evolving relationship between the UK, Europe, and America. He explores the political, economic, and security challenges shaping international partnerships in the years ahead.

Diplomacy, Influence, and Negotiation - What Global Leaders Can Learn From International Relations Successful diplomacy requires trust, influence, resilience, and strategic communication. Drawing from over 40 years in international affairs, Lord Darroch reveals the principles behind effective negotiation and relationship-building at the highest levels of global leadership.