Roben Farzad

Journalist, Broadcaster & Host of Public Radio's "Full Disclosure"

Full Disclosure: Everything That's Going on in the World Around You. In this keynote, acclaimed journalist, broadcaster, and author Roben Farzad brings the trademark wit and incisive analysis he displays as host of public radio's "Full Disclosure" to your meeting. As he leads a deep dive into the intertwining worlds of business, culture, tech, economics, politics, and policy, he draws out tailored analysis on what's going on in the world today and the ways in which we can anticipate that evolution in tech, policy, and the markets will shape the future of business and society. As he seamlessly weaves in pop culture references and applies them in ways that relate to the audience and gets them thinking about transformative issues and ideas in new and exciting ways, he offers thoughtful approaches for how organizations can navigate disruption to their businesses and industries with confidence and clarity.

Tariffs, Trade, and What It All Really Means for You. In this engaging talk, Roben Farzad peels back the complexity of tariffs and trade wars with clarity and humor, helping audiences understand how global economic policies hit close to home. He places today's tariff debates in historical context—from colonial times and the Depression to NAFTA and into the present—and unpacks the effects of globalization on the economy as a whole today. With his trademark analogies, he makes dense economic realities accessible, even entertaining. Audiences walk away with a deeper understanding of what we've gained, what we've lost, and what we've failed to fix. And in a world teetering between volatility and opportunity, he offers a hopeful reminder that investing through crisis has always shaped America's comeback story.

Disrupt or Be Disrupted: The Tech & Business Trends You Need to Know. From artificial intelligence and machine learning to the latest developments in fintech, e-commerce, and digital media, Roben Farzad, journalist and host of public radio's "Full Disclosure" program, investigates the latest trends and emerging technologies that are shaping the future of business and innovation. While providing expert insights on the evolving business landscape, Farzad points to real-life examples of organizations that are successfully adapting to remain competitive in a marketplace that is rife with change and disruption, and highlights which strategies can be leveraged by other companies looking to do the same. His roadmap for how to keep ahead of the curve and move business in sync with disruption serves as a valuable starting point for organizations and individuals looking to tap into the most up-to-date tech and market insights to position their businesses for long-term success.

Trends & Transformation: A Look at the Global Economy. For more than two decades, journalist and public radio host Roben Farzad has established himself as a source of truth for what's really going on with the markets and the economy. Having reported in-depth on the biggest economic stories of our time, and had his analysis referenced by political leaders, Farzad brings new perspectives on the issues in a way that gets groups thinking about the impact on their organizations from important angles they have yet to consider. In this talk, he walks the audience through a high-level overview of the current micro and macroeconomic outlook as he helps them make sense of rising interest rates, continued inflation, supply chain issues, global conflict, and the various other factors that have brought the markets to where they are today and will influence the future of the economy. Able to create engaging stories from the facts that are in front of us, he problem-solves alongside groups as he helps them uncover opportunities to adapt their businesses based on what's going on around them.

Informed and Engaged: What's New in Politics & Policy. With a deep understanding of the complexities that exist within politics and policy, and a reputation for drawing out exclusive remarks from the leaders at the center of the biggest debates in Washington, D.C., Roben Farzad leads groups through a comprehensive look into the inner workings of the political landscape. Calling issues as he sees them and pointing to facts and figures that lend credibility to his analysis, Farzad brings audiences up to speed on the moment's most pressing issues in politics, through the domestic and global lenses, and helps everyone in the room grasp how looming policy decisions impact every aspect of their day-to-day, as well as ways to pivot based on how events unfold.
